

Young Artists Draw Designs Of Car Bodies

Contest To-night at Auto Show Brings Out Entries of Real Practical Value, To Be Used in New Models

Record Sales by Actors

Amateur Salespeople From Stage Draw Record Crowd to Grand Central Palace

This evening has been designated as artists' night by the management of the closed car show, which will continue throughout the remainder of the week at the Grand Central Palace, and at that time the prizes for the contest among the school children of the city will be awarded by a committee of judges made up of a group of nationally known artists. The competition is limited only to boys and girls of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the elementary schools and all high school pupils, whatever their class. Cash prizes are to be given as a reward for the best original designs for closed automobile bodies and for the most attractive color scheme both for the exteriors and the interiors of those bodies.

The rules governing the contest provide that the designs must be painted in water colors and that they must not advertise any specific make of car. It is also stipulated that the designs submitted will become the permanent property of the show committee and it was intimated by that committee last night that the last provision had been a wise one, for several of the paintings already submitted are of great practical value and the ideas will doubtless be incorporated in some of the future models by the coach designers.

Entries Closed Last Evening

In order to be entered in the competition all pictures were required to be in the hands of the committee before the closing hour of the show last night. At that time it was announced that a surprisingly large number of paintings had been received and that the standard of excellence was far above that which had been expected from such a group of contestants. The committee of artists will meet to-day to pass judgment on the merits of these designs and from all advance information the competition will be keen.

Among the artists who have been asked to act as judges of the contests are Charles Dana Gibson, Howard Chandler Christy, G. E. Leysen, O. E. Cesare, Clara Briggs and Windsor McCay. Three prizes of $50, $25 and $15 will be awarded to the pupils in the high schools; three of $25, $15 and $10 will be given to those in the seventh and eighth grades of the elementary schools, and for the pupils of the sixth grade there are two awards of $15 and $10.

Plea for Leniency in Will Leaving Mortgage

Included in the will of Mrs. Annie Marcell, of 117 Caryl Avenue, Yonkers, is a request to her son Joseph to be merciful to a couple on whose home she held a mortgage. This she bequeathed to the young man. In willing the mortgage on 90 Whitehall Street, Albany, Mrs. Marcell wrote, in a will filed yesterday with Surrogate Slater, at White Plains, the following:

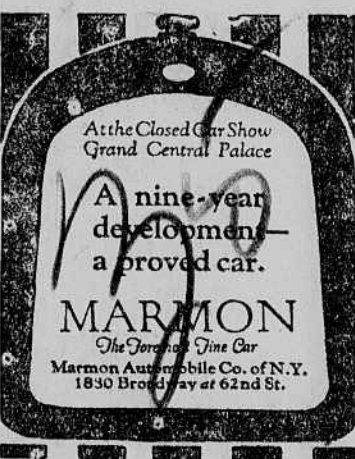

"Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Dudley have made a hard struggle to have a home, and since it is my request, I know you will be merciful to them."

Yesterday were thoroughly pleased with the results of the exhibition thus far, and were practically unanimous in the opinion that this is the best show from every standpoint which has been held in the city in recent years. It was said that the first car was sold five minutes after the opening last Saturday and that the sales to date have far surpassed expectations.

Closed car owners will find the Essex Coach gives all essential utilities for which they have paid far more in the past. And it costs little more than the open model.

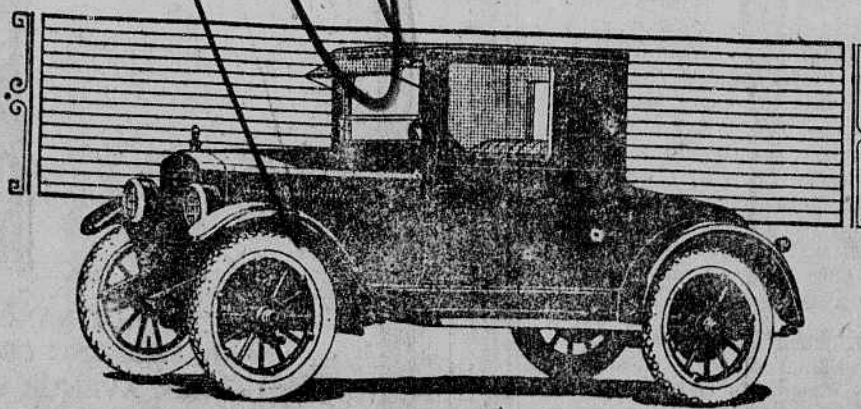

It is sturdy, good looking and comfortable for year round service. The body stays tight and quiet. Doors keep their snug fit. Upholstery and rugs are made of long wearing materials.

Lightness, economy and reliability are qualities you will appreciate all the more, because of its remarkable ability and performance.

Business men, who first of all want certain, dependable transportation, are quite naturally enthusiastic about the Essex Cabriolet, also a show feature.

An all-weather car. Large carrying space in rear deck. Ample leg room. Comfortable, deep seats. Handle easily. Long hours of driving do not cause fatigue.

Its smart appearance appeals to women drivers, too, and its simplicity of operation and rare need for attention makes it ideal for their use.

handed him by a commission from St. Thomas urging that the Volstead act be not enforced in the Virgin Islands; that the coastwise shipping law be suspended and that the quarantine regulations be abated.

Ship figures compiled from the custom house records show that for the year ended June 30, 1922, 2,156 vessels of all types entered this port, as compared with 2,652 for the previous year. For the twelve months ended June 30, 1920, 2,245 ships came into port.

It is pointed out here that the year ended June 30, 1921, was abnormal, and that there has, in fact, been only a slight decline in the actual number of vessels entering port over the fiscal year 1920. But it appears that the port is not suffering so much from the decline in the number of vessels coming here as from the fact that fewer of these vessels take on coal or other supplies.

The United States Shipping Board built three large oil tanks here with a capacity of 165,000 barrels to supply fuel oil to Shipping Board vessels. They were filled last January and since then the total withdrawals have been only about 40,000 barrels.

So far this year ships coming into port to take on coal have averaged less than one a week and the coaling of vessels is the chief source of income for many men and women, who earn from three to five cents for each bushel of coal carried aboard. For the first three months this year the importations of coal were 2,195 tons, as compared with importations of approximately 5,000 tons for a like period last year.

More cargo has been left in port this year for transshipment to other ports than in several years, but despite this the amount of employment furnished has been inadequate. The island lives on the ships which come into the port of Charlotte Ama-lie, and restrictions on shipping which were not known in Danish days are causing uneasiness among the people.
